

SOCIETY

Governor and Mrs. Frear Entertain. "Arcadia," the home of Governor and Mrs. Frear, on Punahou street, was the scene of a pleasant social gathering on Monday afternoon, when the Governor and his wife held the first of their public monthly receptions. These affairs are always well attended by visitors to the islands and by the older residents of the city. Mrs. Clarence Snider and Mrs. Charles Adams received with Governor and Mrs. Frear, while refreshments were served by Miss Marjorie Peterson, Miss Margaret Waterhouse, Mrs. John M. Dowsett, Mrs. Alexander Lindsay and Miss Violet Atherton. Others who assisted during the afternoon were Mrs. Babbitt and Mrs. Mott-Smith.

During the afternoon Kani's quintet club played Hawaiian melodies. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. Belle Jones, Mrs. Vida Thrum, Mrs. John T. Warren, Mrs. Louis Warren, Mrs. L. Tenney Peck, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke, Mrs. Clarence Cooke, Major and Mrs. Timberlake, General Macomb, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, Miss Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Howland, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Henry Ginnac, Mrs. R. B. Rietow, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Miss Boge, Miss Chipman, Mrs. Katherine M. Yates, Mrs. Lydia Bingham Coan, Miss Bertha Young, Mrs. J. L. Howard, Mrs. T. L. McNab, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Grimthe, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rockwell Wickes, Dr. Doremus Scudder, Mrs. Charles Wilder, Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Ebersole, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dowsett, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Miss Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keller, Mrs. William Keller, Miss Ethel Keller, Mrs. H. H. Williams, Mr. Lynn McCracken, Mr. Robert Law, Mrs. George Guild, Dr. and Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. William Whitney and others.

Miss Magoon's Masquerade. The masquerade dance at which Miss Emmeline Magoon entertained her friends on Saturday evening was a success in every way. There were about a hundred guests present, who were greeted by Mr. John Henry and Mr. Allie Magoon, brothers of the young hostess. There were a few handsome costumes to be seen, though the majority were dressed in Yama Yama suits. Miss Magoon and Miss Laura Lee were dressed as baby dolls and looked sweet. Two of the handsomest gowns were those of Miss Esther White and Miss Beatrice White, who were dressed as Colonial dames. Miss Marjorie Gilman looked charming in the Oriental costume of an Egyptian maiden. Miss Ruth Soper was dressed as a Western girl and made a splendid appearance. There were only a few other costumes that were particularly noticeable. Mr. Alapaki Smith was dressed as a Mandarin and Mr. Wrenne Timberlake as a monk. There were a number of young men, including Duke Kahanamoku, who wore prison garb and who entered the ball room treading the lock-step rather than tripping the light fantastic. Some among those present were Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Helen Spalding, Miss Orpha Starrett, Miss Catherine Paris, Miss Catherine Ashley, Miss Thelma Murphy, Miss Eloise Weichman, Miss Marjorie Gilman, Miss Pearl Littlejohn, Miss Pearl McCarthy, Miss Abby Lucas, Miss Lorna Jarrett, Miss Allen Jarrett, Miss Ethel Whiting, Miss Mary Low, Miss Atkinson, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Carrie Ackerman, Miss Alexandra Strauch, Miss Wilhelmina Strauch, Miss Laura Low, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Catherine Jones, Miss Evelyn Scott, Miss Lucy Dimond, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Edith Smith, Mr. Charles Herbert, Kelvin Keech, Mr. Dickson Nott, Mr. Alapaki Smith, Mr. Kenneth Smith, Mr. Gilbert Foote, Mr. Arch Brown, Mr. Kenneth Smith, Mr. Arthur Gilman, Mr. Moore, Mr. Floyd Emmons, Mr. Fred Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Berndt, Mr. Reller, Mr. Cornelius Sullivan, Mr. Luther Hough, Mr. Reginald Melanphy, Mr. Guy Macfarlane, Mr. Ernest Parker, Mr. Henry Hustace, Mr. Will Besha, Mr. Willie Harris, Mr. Sam Carter, Mr. John Gifford, Mr. Closson Emory and others.

Miss Ellicott Leaves. Miss Priscilla Ellicott, who has been in Honolulu for several months as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, left in the Maryland on Saturday for her home on the mainland. Miss Ellicott was much feted while in Honolulu, and her many friends here will miss her at the social events that will take place this season. The trip on board the cruiser will no doubt be a most delightful one, for Miss Ellicott is not only the guest of Mrs. Kingsbury, but her father, Captain John Ellicott, is in command of the Maryland.

Among those sailing on the transport Saturday for the Philippines are Captain and Mrs. Richard Cutts of the marine corps. They have been for the past week at Mare Island, as the guests of Captain Cutts' mother, Mrs. Emily Cutts, and numerous farewell entertainments have been given for them at the Navy Yard.—S. F. Chronicle.

Miss Allen McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avery McCarthy of Los Angeles, arrived on the Korea Monday from Honolulu, having spent two months on the beautiful Spaulding plantation at Kealia, Kauai. Miss McCarthy will be one of the debutantes of the winter in Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy have recently taken possession of their residence on Norton avenue, after passing the summer at Redondo Beach. They will give a large reception for the coming out of their daughter.—S. F. Chronicle.

Mrs. Riddiford and her daughter, Miss Riddiford, are registered at the Moana. Miss Riddiford is a New Zealand heiress and is en route to London.

Countess de Cisneros is visiting at the Moana.

Miss Belle McCormick left in the Wilhelmnia today for a visit to the mainland.

Mrs. Humbert of Fort Ruger has invitations out for a bridge party for the fifteenth of October.

Miss Lydia McCosker left in the Wilhelmnia this morning, and will make an extended visit in California. Miss McCosker will return to Honolulu in about six months.

WOMAN'S BOARD HEARS OF BROAD MISSION WORK

The Woman's Board of Missions of Central Union Church held the second meeting of the year at the Church parlors yesterday afternoon at half after two o'clock. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Theodore Richards. She was followed by Miss Erther Erickson of the Y. W. C. A. who read a scriptural selection. The report of the preceding meeting was then read by Miss Sheely the recording secretary.

Miss Agnes Judd read two letters from missionaries who had visited in Honolulu. The first was from Mrs. Jenkins of Pomona College California who is now in Japan. Her letter told of the interesting experiences she is having in the east. Mrs. Jenkins is to make her home in Tokyo. The second letter read by Miss Judd was from Mrs. Charmon who is in Ocean Island. This letter told of the islands, of the wonderful surf there and of the picturesque beauty. Miss Judd was followed by Mrs. L. L. Moore who read the treasurer's report.

One of the interesting features of the afternoon was the talk given by Mrs. McKenzie, the mission worker among the Chinese. Mrs. McKenzie has recently returned from Canada and San Francisco where she has spent a ten week's vacation visiting among the Chinese. Mrs. McKenzie says that there are a great many Chinese in Canada and that they are all anxious not only to learn the English language but are also eager to imbibe the Christian religion.

The Chinese work in Vancouver is progressing, says Mrs. McKenzie, although she was not able to see much of the work in progress for as it was vacation time the schools were discontinued. In San Francisco Mrs. McKenzie found many interesting things in China Town. The women there are closely shut in and all are eager to learn the ways of the more advanced nations, where they have made their home.

The Congregational mission in San Francisco was ideal. Miss Green who is very well known in Honolulu is now at the head of the Congregational work there. The Chinese who are in the mission live in large buildings and the conditions existing among them are fairly good and steadily improving. Mrs. McKenzie was also very much impressed with the Episcopal mission in San Francisco. At the time she visited that mission the cooking class was preparing for a picnic. She said that when she saw the woman and children so happy in their little frilled caps and making such dainty edibles she could not help but wish that something on that order might be introduced in Honolulu. Miss Grant, who was formerly connected with the Episcopal work in this city, is in charge of the work there. One of the interesting features in the Chinese work in the Bay City was the school for boys conducted by the Presbyterians. These boys were brought over from China to be educated and are learning American ways rapidly. A remarkable thing about the Chinese is that all of them say that education is helping them and will help their country. But they also firmly believe that religion will do a great deal towards bettering the conditions in China.

Mrs. McKenzie enjoyed a perfect vacation and although the Chinese with whom she works here were glad that she was able to get away for a short time, they all gave her a hearty welcome home. Mrs. McKenzie's earnest work among the people from the Orient has been prolific of splendid results and she has won her way into the hearts of those with whom she comes in such close contact.

Literary Paper Read. The literary paper of the afternoon was read by Miss Antoinette Foster, who told of the Bible of the world. Miss Foster is one of the English teachers at Chien College and also conducts the Bible classes there. As there are a great many Bibles in the different countries of the world, Miss Foster confessed that she found it rather hard at first to select the most interesting ones. Among the most interesting as well as the oldest, however, are the Vedas of India. So far as known, these are among the oldest of human compositions. They date back of the knowledge of writing and for many years were handed down orally as traditions. They are now written in Sanskrit and to read them one must possess a knowledge of this ancient language. In speaking of the Vedas, Miss Foster said that the Rig Veda is among the oldest, as it was written some time between 200 and 800 B. C. Miss Foster told about the gods worshipped by the people of India. There are about thirty and each one was worshipped as a complete deity in itself. Out of the Vedas came many smaller collections of books and they were much modified and some of the latest ones told of a belief in, and a superstition regarding the power of evil.

The Brahma Books.

Another collection of books mentioned by Miss Foster was the Brahmas. These, she said, were prose compositions dealing with sacrificial rites and condemning them. One of the books contains traditions of the flood and in another the doctrine of immortality is more definitely presented. These books also tell of the doctrine of Transmigration. In speaking of the Brahmas, Miss Foster mentioned the Sutras. Then she said that modern Hinduism is a result of the Buddhist influence upon Brahmanism. Miss Foster also mentioned the Sacred Books of Buddha. These were written in the popular dialect and are very like the New Testament, for they tell of the life of Buddha and of his influence with his disciples, as does the New Testament in our own Bible tell of the works of the Christ. It seems that the Buddhist's highest aim is a withdrawal from the world sense into a peaceful nothingness.

The speaker also dealt with the Zend Avesta, which have to do with the Persians in North India. Though these people are looked upon as natives of India, they are in reality of Persian descent who settled in India after the Mohammedan Conquest. These books are written in but one language that is very like the Sanskrit. Like the teachings of Zoroaster, these books deal with a dualism, and tell of the contest between good and evil. Many references are made to the god of fire by these people, for to them fire denotes power.

The books that are probably the most interesting are those of the Koran. The Koran is younger than our Bible, that religion having made its appearance six hundred years after the Christ. The Koran is looked upon as a divine inspiration that was handed down by Gabrielle to Mohammed. Parts of the Koran are supposed to have been taken from our own Bible, for reference is made to Christ.

Confucianism. In her closing remarks Miss Foster said that she would like to mention Confucianism for although it may not be considered a religion, Confucius' aim was to teach the people how to live. Confucianism is believed in by many of the Buddhists, as it does not conflict with other religions. During the course of her address Miss Foster illustrated her lecture with readings from the Koran.

At the conclusion of the literary portion of the meeting Mrs. Dean Rockwell Wickes was introduced to the members of the board by Mrs. Richards. Mrs. Wickes said that she hoped to find some work to do in China similar to that for which she has spent so much time in preparation. For seven years she has been studying the social conditions of the different classes of people in America with the view to working for the betterment of those who are a part of the congested districts. During the last year of school in Chicago she lived in one of the most congested districts of the city among the Polish people. She said that if she did not find any similar work in the east she felt that if she can establish an ideal home that the people will strive to copy, she will have done a little at least towards helping them on their way.

The members of the Woman's Board always hear with interest the letters of their Armenian proteges. Yesterday communications were read from a little boy and a girl. The letters always contain expressions of gratitude for the help they are receiving from their benefactors in Honolulu.

After the regular meeting the members lingered for some time to meet and talk with Mrs. Dean Rockwell Wickes.

DE CISNEROS HAS SUPERB VOICE

Countess de Cisneros, Mr. James Liebling and M. Paul Dufault, all members of the concert party, are none the less worse off for their long steamer trip from Australia. The countess is confident that her voice could not be in better condition and so is Paul Dufault, the tenor. They both took precautions while enroute and did not run any foolish risks and now feel that they can enjoy Honolulu's balminess to the utmost extent.

James Liebling, whose greatest passion is his cello, has come in the best spirits and health to give the music lovers of this city a rare treat in his art. His success in Australia was instantaneous. At no time did he fail to reach his audience. They will make their first appearance in Honolulu Friday evening at the Hawaiian Opera House. Tickets are for sale at the Promotion Committee rooms.

NEW BOOKS ORDERED FOR HAWAII LIBRARY

The first order of new books for the Library of Hawaii, amounting to a couple of thousand dollars and filling a large dray, was taken yesterday from the Crossroads Bookstore to the handsome new building. Other orders from local stores and from abroad will be delivered until the shelves of the new library are well stocked. With the new books, added to the already large stock of the old Honolulu library, the Library of Hawaii will become one of the best of the smaller libraries of the Union. The debris of the former frame buildings that occupied the ground between the new building and King street has been nearly cleaned up and carried away, and the work of parking this ground has commenced. Later on the fence between the Capitol and the new library will be taken down and the grounds of both buildings will be made practically one.

CHARLES M. LE BLOND IS DEAD AT HILO

Charles M. Le Blond, one of the most prominent and popular attorneys of the Crescent City, is dead at his home in Hilo. Mr. Le Blond came to the islands in 1898 from Ohio, and at once established himself in his profession. During the early part of his residence in Hilo he had for a partner Clinton Galbraith, and later William H. Smith, with whom he was associated at the time of his death. For several terms he was a member of the upper house of the Ohio Legislature, and it is said that on one occasion his vote elected J. B. Foraker to the United States Senate. For the past ten years or more he lived alone or with his son Luke, when the latter was in Hilo, in a cottage opposite the home of Rev. Stephen Desha. He separated from his wife some years ago, one son going West with him and another remaining on the mainland, where he had taken orders in the Roman Catholic church.

HAWAII THEATER

AND IT'S ONLY FOR TWO NIGHTS

We positively can't afford to have it for more than that; we like to afford these things, but Carnegie hasn't spoken to us lately and "Jawa D." refuses to cable—so we can only have it on tap for just two nights—Wednesday and Thursday.

WHAT?

Oh, yes—we meant to tell you before this. It's the greatest, weirdest, and most interesting dramatic story of love and hate since Ouida wrote "Under Two Flags." It makes you forget theaters, tall hats and taxicabs—and takes you clear to Algiers and the Sahara Desert. Can you imagine a weirder, more gripping, intensive thing than a "TRAGEDY OF THE DESERT" as played by the Kalem Co. in the city of Algiers and on the desert? A good comedy and a bully Western picture complete the bill. But don't forget the principal film. It's worth seeing twice.
